our history

The Paragon Hotel was built in 1857 during the gold rush. Originally known as the Bushman's Home, it was one of Mudgee's earliest buildings, run by publican Isaac McKenna and used for meetings, court cases and overnight stays.

Renamed the Paragon Hotel in 1866, it now honours its history through the Bushman brand and McKenna Terraces boutique accommodation next door.

“Wish we had stayed longer”

- Daniel

“We’ve stayed all over the country, and this has been a stand-out! Beautifully appointed apartment, super clean, excellent staff from management to cleaners...awesome experience all round, we’ll definitely be back!”

- Sarah
